EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The placing of the responsibility of family planning on women, who may struggle for access to care, financial resources and even control over their own body due to patriarchal views on female sexuality, comes from a torrid history. During the Emergency, reportedly 6 million men were sterilised in one year. Indira Gandhi's Government was subsequently voted out of power. The focus of family planning switched to women even as the bugaboo of an imminent population bomb faded.

While ostensibly at least some of these women may be willingly exerting control over their bodies, they may be doing so while making a limited choice between the risk of unwanted pregnancies and maternal mortality, and that of serious surgery. Recently, in Tamil Nadu, Karur district framed male vasectomy as an act of love for one's family while offering meaningful incentives including access to bank loans and housing pattas. Twenty-one men opted for it this year compared to eight last year. To draw men back into the conversation on reproduction requires gender norms and roles to be challenged and dismantled, yet interventions like the one in TN may also be needed and can show quicker results. — In The New Indian Express

The world's largest domesticated cattle breed

Val di Chiana: With a recorded history of at least 2,200 years, the Chianina is among the oldest known cattle breeds. But what it is most famous for is being by far the largest cattle breed on Earth.

Originally bred in the Val di Chiana region of Italy, Chianina cattle have been raised in the regions of Tuscany, Lazio and Umbria for at least two millennia, first as a beast of burden, and later for its meat.

They were praised by ancient poets and inspired Roman sculptures, and even today they are used as part of traditional and religious processions. The most noticeable characteristic of the breed is the extensive and well-defined muscling, which made it the main source of agricultural power in Italy until the advent of mechanization.

Karlstad: Johannes Wessmark is a self-taught Swedish artist who specialises in hyper-realistic acrylic painting that rivals high-resolution photography.

Johannes Wessmark was born in Karlstad, Sweden in 1962. He had a happy childhood, but he wasn't the most popular of his peers, preferring instead to observe without interacting. Looking back, the Swedish painter remembers some quirks that hint at the attention to detail his art is now world-famous for.

When he was 10, he decided to start cleaning his own room, just to make sure it was done exactly the way he wanted. He also drew and painted a lot and his mother encouraged him to develop his artistic side, which turned out to be a great idea, as Johannes is one of the world's most respected hyper-realistic artists.

REALLY...?

- There are many theories behind the name "kabaddi." Yet, no one can tell for sure where the name of this amusing sport comes from. Some kabaddi lovers assume that the name of the sport originated in Tamil, from a word kai-pidi that means "to hold hands." Moreover, some Indian people claim that the sport itself came from Tamil Nadu.
- Kabaddi features many different name variations across India. In South India, the sport is referred to as Chedugudu, while it is called Kaunbada in some parts of the North. People living in East India named the sport Ha-Do-Do, and the residents of the Western part believe it should be called Hu-Tu-Tu.

High 'Tension' Road

Sir,

Synonymous to its name, this High Tension Road in Vijayanagar 2nd Stage near the Ring Road is full of potholes. This road is a double road on both sides of the High Tension electricity wires. This double road is so important that it connects the important software companies like Infosys, Wipro etc., and Koorgalli industrial area with the residential places Vijayanagar 1st and 2nd Stages, Gokulam, Jayalakshmipuram etc.

Due to its pathetic condition, the vehicles keep jumping up and down in this entire stretch of about 1 km.

I request the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) authorities to repair this road quickly.

Karnataka Assembly passes Anti-Conversion Bill amid protest by Opposition Congress

Belagavi, Dec. 24 (UNI)- The Anti-Conversion Bill was passed in Karnataka Assembly on Thursday amidst protests by the Opposition Congress.

Pandemonium erupted after BJP claimed that the Anti-Conversion Bill was an improvement on the draft prepared during Siddharamaiah's tenure as the Chief Minister in 2016. Both members of the ruling and Opposition members cast aspersions on each other over the Bill.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai questioned the Congress why the bill was processed by the Law Commission during Siddharamaiah's tenure as the Chief Minister and why it was not stopped then. He said the then Law Minister had approved the draft Bill and it was presented before the Cabinet, when the then CM Siddharamaiah agreed to.

He also said the Congress had prepared the draft Bill inspired by the then Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Virbhadra Singh, who brought anti-conversion law in 2006.

"The Congress is saying that the present Bill is prepared by RSS. It is an open secret that RSS is against forcible religious conversion. But, why did the Congress want to pursue the RSS agenda of bringing an Anti-Conversion Bill," Bommai asked.

"The reason why the Congress had brought the then Bill in 2016 in Karnataka was, it was inspired by Virbhadra Singh's stringent Anti-Conversion Bill," he added.

Bommai said the present Bill introduced by Karnataka Government is constitutional and has the purpose of stopping the forcible religious conversion and protecting dalits and women. The Bill's objective is to maintain public order as conversions create tension between communities, he said.

The Chief Minister also alleged that the Congress was opposing the Bill for vote bank politics and had a double-tongued approach towards the issue. "When they are in power they are for Anti-Conversion Bill and when in opposition, they oppose it. This is a dual policy of the Congress," he said.

"Therefore, I urge the Chair (Speaker) to pass the Bill," Bommai concluded.

When Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri put the bill for voice vote, Congress members trooped into the well of the House in protest against it.

Earlier, Siddharamaiah, in defense, agreed that the Law Commission report was submitted, but was not discussed and approved by the then Cabinet, and hence the then Congress Government did not have any intention to implement the bill.

If the then Government had the intention of implementing the Bill, it could have been done as it was in power for next two years, Siddharamaiah argued.

Joining the issue, Congress members maintained that the details of the then Bill was different from the one presented by the BJP Government.

Countering it, Minister J.C. Madhuswamy agreed it is dissimilar because two to three changes have been made to the 2016 draft.

Karnataka Assembly Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri adjourned the House for 10 minutes and summoned Madhuswamy and Siddharamaiah to his chamber to go through the documents.

On resumption, Siddharamaiah said the Anti-Conversion Bill is identical to the one in Uttar Pradesh and Gujarat and therefore it will be struck down in the Court as it was done in these States.

He contended that there was no necessity to introduce the Bill as section 295(a) of Indian Penal Code already protects from conversion with malafide intentions. IPC 295(a) states "Deliberate and malicious acts, intended to outrage religious feelings of any class by insulting its religion or religious beliefs."

The Bill provides an imprisonment from three to five years with a fine of Rs. 25,000, while for violation of provisions with respect to minors, women, SC/ST, offenders will face imprisonment from three to ten years and a fine of not less than Rs. 50,000.

The Bill also proposes the culprit to pay up to Rs. 5 lakh as compensation to those who were converted and with regards to cases of mass conversion the Bill proposes 3-10 years jail term and a fine of up to Rs. 1 lakh. It also provides that any marriage which happened for the sole purpose of conversion or vice-versa by the man of one religion with the woman of another religion, either by converting himself before or after marriage or by converting the woman before or after marriage, shall be declared as null and void by the Family Court.

KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar's absence gives rise to suspicions

Belagavi, Dec. 24- KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar, who had tore a copy of Anti-Religious Conversion Bill in protest against it, during the ongoing State legislature at Suvarna Soudha in Belagavi on Tuesday, was conspicuous by his absence when the debate on the Bill took place on Thursday.

As Shivakumar skipped the all-important debate regarding the Bill, Opposition Leader Siddharamaiah was left alone to attack the Government over the Bill.

D.K. Shivakumar, who was vicious in his attack on the Government over the introduction of the Bill ever since it was proposed to introduce, was nowhere to be seen in Suvarna Soudha on Thursday.

Meanwhile, Shivakumar abstained from Thursday's session upon learning that the draft of the Anti-conversion Bill was prepared when Siddharamaiah headed Congress Government was in power, according to one source. However, other sources said that Shivakumar skipped due to inevitable reasons and nothing much should be read into it.

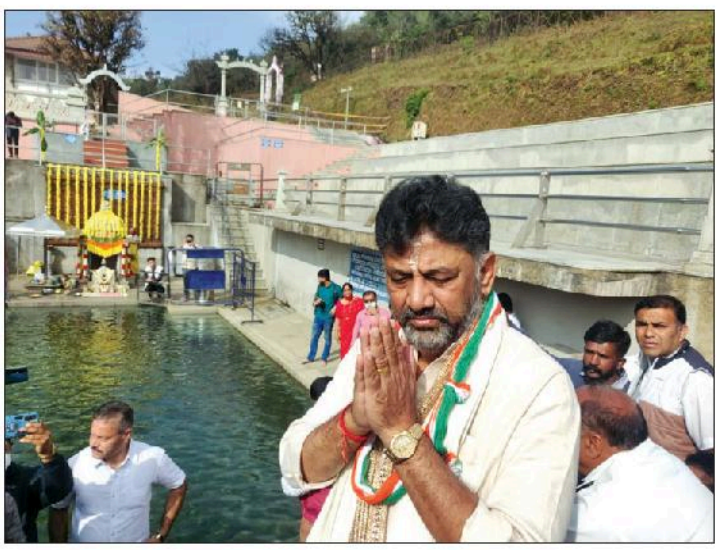
Prelude to padayatra demanding Mekedatu Project

DKS performs pujas at Talacauvery

Kushalnagar, Dec. 24 (Akshay &BCT)- Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) President D.K. Shivakumar (RKS) visited Talacauvery in Kodagu this morning to offer traditional pujas to the birthplace of River Cauvery.

Before going to Talacauvery, the Congress leader visited the Triveni Sangama in Bhagamandala where he sprinkled the holy water on him as per tradition. He prayed at Sri Bhagandeshwara Temple and then proceeded towards Talacauvery where he was accorded a traditional welcome. Priests performed the rituals at the holy Kundike.



KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar (DKS) sprinkles holy water on him as per tradition at Triveni Sangama in Bhagamandala this morning before proceeding to Talacauvery. Picture right shows the Congress leader at Talacauvery.

The KPCC President, who tore up the copy of the Anti-Conversion Bill at the Assembly session in Belagavi on Tuesday, skipped the debate in the House yesterday. In the evening, he headed to Kodagu from his Bengaluru residence.

Shivakumar's visit to Kodagu now holds significance as he plans to cash-in on the victory margin obtained in the recently held MLC elections. Congress candidate Dr. Manthar Gowda lost by a small margin to BJP's Suja Kushalappa. Kodagu has been a traditional BJP voter and this small victory margin has boosted the confidence of the party workers.

The KPCC President was accompanied by party Working President and former MP R. Dhruvanarayan, Legal Cell President A.S. Ponnanna, MLC Veena Achaiah, Dr. Manthar Gowda, President of Karnataka Pradesh Mahila Congress Dr. Pushpa Amarnath, Kodagu Congress President Dharmaja Uthappa and party leaders K.P. Chandrakala and Chandramouli.

Later speaking to reporters, Shivakumar said that the Mekedatu Project will benefit both Tamil Nadu and Karnataka. In the Last 16 years, 104 tmcft of water has flown into the Bay of Bengal and with Mekedatu, Karnataka was planning to utilise the water that is being wasted, he said.

"When there is less rainfall, the entire Cauvery water can be stored in respective dams by Karnataka and Tamil Nadu and the Mekedatu dam will be built to safeguard the interests of Karnataka. Even power can be generated through the project that will also help in providing drinking water to large barren areas," he said.

The project will be beneficial to both Karnataka and Tamil Nadu and the neighbouring State should realise the benefits. Even the Supreme Court has said many times that drinking water projects should not be stalled. "We have decided to launch a 10-day padayatra on Jan. 9 pressing for the Mekedatu project and it will not be a political movement. As a prelude to Mekedatu padayatra, I have come to Talacauvery today to perform pujas," Shivakumar said.

ROUSING RECEPTION: DKS arrived in Madikeri last night at 10 pm and was given a rousing reception at Koppa Gate that borders Mysuru and Kodagu in Kushalnagar. Seeing the crowd shouting slogans, the Congress leader opened the sunroof of his vehicle and greeted the crowd with folded hands. Flower petals were showered on him by an ecstatic crowd.

Omicron curbs: Why are hotels singled out?

Mysuru Hotel Owners' Association questions the conduct of Flower Show at Palace

Mysuru, Dec. 24 (RKB&BCT)- The Mysuru Hotel Owners' Association has questioned the rationale behind permitting the Flower Show at Mysore Palace from Dec. 25 to Jan. 2 amidst Omicron scare and at a time when the State Government has imposed restrictions on hotels for New Year's eve celebrations.

The Association has stated that on the one hand, hotels are heavily restricted from celebrating New Year, gathering of crowds and organising DJ parties, the same Government was permitting the Flower Show where thousands of visitors gather at one particular place.

In a press release, Association President C. Narayanagowda alleged discrimination. "We do not understand the rationale behind issuing guidelines when events like Flower Shows that attract a large number of people are permitted. We have also heard about fireworks display welcoming the New Year at the Mysore Palace," he said.

"Guidelines must be uniform for all and all should comply with COVID-19 protocols. But here we see that restrictions are only for hotels that usually celebrate Christmas and New Year while no such restrictions are applicable to the District Administration that is organising the Flower Show. Is it reasonable to single out hotels?" he asked.

Mysore Palace gearing up to host the Flower Show from tomorrow till Jan. 2, 2022.

Encroachment clearance drive continues...

MUDA reclaims layout land worth Rs. 170 cr.

Mysuru, Dec. 24 (RK&BCT)- After reclaiming land worth Rs. 100 crore meant to form Vijayanagar Fourth Stage Layout last Saturday at Basavanahalli village, the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) today reclaimed land worth Rs. 170 crore, also at Basavanahalli, in an early morning operation. Over 6.14 acres land that had been encroached, is now back with MUDA.

In a press release, MUDA Commissioner Dr. D.B. Natesh has stated that the land is located in Basavanahalli Sy.No. 123/1, Mysuru Taluk, Kasaba Hobli and MUDA had acquired the land to form Vijayanagar Fourth Stage Second Phase layout.

While acquiring the land and to pay compensation, MUDA faced a roadblock as some of the property owners did not produce valid documents for the grant of money. As such, MUDA had deposited Rs. 4,93,551 in the Court. People claiming ownership over the land were not the actual owners. But instead, they had occupied Government land.

Following MUDA's move to acquire land, people claiming to be land owners approached the High Court. The Court, however, ruled in favour of MUDA and this morning the drive was conducted to clear encroachments with Police protection.

Illegal structures that had come up on the land were demolished and signboards were erected indicating that it is MUDA property. MUDA plans to form Vijayanagar 4th Stage Second Phase with 35 40'x60' sites, 19 30'x40', 64 20'x30' and 45 sites of bigger dimensions.

MUDA Superintending Engineer Shankar, Land Acquisition Officer Harshavardhan and Executive Engineers Mohan and Sathyanarayana Joshi, Zonal Officers K.R. Mahesh, Ravindrakumar, Kiran, Shivanna, Nagesh and Ravishankar (electrical) supervised the operation.

Massive rally seeking ban on MES

The rally, featured a statue of Sangolli Rayanna, a bust of Basaveshwara and an idol of Goddess Bhuvaneshwari, carried on three separate vehicles. The rally was accompanied by folk troupes and protestors held Kannada flags and placards condemning the activities of MES.

The protestors from different parts of the district had arrived in two-wheelers, four wheelers and other public transport vehicles, with Kannada flags tied to almost all the vehicles. The rally presented a picture of a sea of Kannada flags as it passed through the Central Business District and all along the route to the DC's Office.

Pointing out that Sangolli Rayanna was a great freedom warrior who was not limited to any caste, language or region, the protestors said that the destruction of his statue was an insult to crores of Kannadigas. Strongly condemning the defacing of Basavanna's portrait, they said that Basavanna was a 12th century reformer, who strove for ending caste and gender discrimination in the society. They also strongly condemned the burning of Kannada flag by MES activists, which is an insult to crores of Kannadigas.

Accusing the MES of spreading disharmony and hatred between Kannadigas and Marathis through its divisive and nefarious activities, the protestors sought a complete ban on MES, as such an action alone can bring the MES to its knees. They also wanted the MES activists in Belagavi to be externed at the earliest in order to bring long-lasting peace in Belagavi.

After the rally reached the Deputy Commissioner's Office, the protestors held a demonstration, where they raised slogans condemning MES and hailing Sangolli Rayanna, Basavanna and 'Kannadambe.' Later, a memorandum was submitted to the Deputy Commissioner, which sought bringing the culprits to book and a total ban on MES.

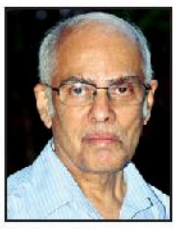
National Consumer Day today

Time for Introspection



By Bhamy V. Shenoy

To promote consumer rights and responsibilities, there are two occasions to celebrate — on March 15 is World Consumer Day (WCD) and on December 24 is National Consumer Day (NCD). Despite ample opportunities provided by these two celebrations over the years, consumer movement in Mysuru has made little progress. One can even argue that it is dormant today.

Let us use this year to introspect why we the people have failed to usher in a consumer rights revolution as intended by our Parliament when they adapted path-breaking Consumer Protection Act (COPRA) in 1986.

The theme of this year's NCD is "Consumer - Know Your Rights." Let us do some introspection on who in Mysuru are in a position to educate consumers of all kinds — poor or rich, literate or illiterate, professionals or blue collar workers, men or women, teachers or students. Every one is a consumer and every one has suffered or cheated while buying goods or services — private or Government. Still in 2021 only about 315 have complained to consumer courts. To most Mysureans, COPRA which was amended extensively with many outstanding features in 2019 is unknown.

Several consumer-friendly features of COPRA are: resolution of complaints in less than 90 days, submitting complaint on plain paper, no need of a lawyer, no fees till claimed compensation exceeds Rs. 15 lakh, manufactures responsible for product liability, filing complaints electronically, alternate resolution mechanism through mediation, action against unfair trade practices and misleading advertisements, and providing consumer protection while purchasing online. But how many of us know about these? Equally important, how many know how consumer courts have been functioning?

According to the latest statistics available (Nov. 2021), out of 31 District Consumer Commissions, six did not have Presidents. Only 24% of complaints filed were resolved in mandated time limit by District Commissions while it was only 21% at State Commission. Of course situation at civil and criminal courts is even worse. But Consumer Courts are expected to function much better with minimum hassle. Why have we not agitated which is our responsibility demanding efficient operation?

Let us now look at different stakeholders who could have contributed to promote vibrant consumer movement. District Consumer Commission (DCC) could have regularly given press note on its functioning. DCC should publicise some of their path-breaking judgements where they were able to help the consumers. It could have written articles to educate consumer on their rights and responsibilities. Only time we hear about Consumer Courts is during celebrations of WCDs and NCDs where the Presidents are invited as chief guests.

COPRA is taught as a subject to all students in Commerce and Law Colleges. At one time there were consumer protection clubs in some schools and colleges. MGP's activists C.V. Nagaraj has given thousands of food adulteration demonstration at these schools and colleges. But how many Law Colleges and Commerce Colleges have taken time and made efforts to survey the consumer problems and educate them on the use of COPRA? Under NEP, community involvement and social responsibility are expected to be stressed as much as lectures. Let us hope, our teachers will train themselves and take their responsibility seriously.

There are thousands of retired professionals in Mysuru. Do they feel they need to join some NGOs or in their own individual capacity take time to get involved in consumer movement? Three outstanding such retired professionals who contributed to such efforts were late Dr. H.A.B. Parpia (former CFTRI Director), late Prof. Ananthaswamy (retired Principal of Engineering College) and late D.K. Ranganathan (retired Railway staff). All these pioneers were responsible for the success of MGP. It is not necessary that one should be a professional to get involved in social movement. Every one retired or not retired should take some time to get involved. For democracy to succeed, eternal vigilance is the price we have to pay by involving in socially relevant projects.

Finally those activists who take responsibilities as office-bearers in managing NGOs, especially the one dealing with consumer protection have special responsibility. Once an NGO gets high recognition and credibility, some activists even when they do not have genuine interest or capability, try to get elected just for the sake of position or to promote their own agendas. In such events there is no use blaming them. It is the responsibility of other members to ensure that only the qualified members with capability get elected. This is also the tragedy of our political system. If we have corrupt leaders, it is because we the people have failed to get involved to develop vibrant democratic institutions.

In conclusion, one way to promote vibrant consumer movement is for all of us to get involved by joining any well-established Consumer Protection NGO of the city. Let us not forget the aphorism that it is only the busy people who have the time.
